Ngā Rerenga Kōrero — Maori Phrase of the Week

titiro (tirohia): look

Kei te titiro au ki te tamaiti e menemene mai ana.

I am looking at the child who is smiling at me.

Kia ora te whānau, Catholic Character

Pope Francis says “Within the framework of holiness offered by the Beatitudes and Matthew 25:31-46, I would like to mention a few signs or spiritual attitudes that, in my opinion, are necessary if we are to understand the way of life to which the Lord calls us.” (G et E 110).

Spiritual Attitude One: Patience, Perseverance, Meekness

This is a solid grounding in the God who loves and sustains us. God, who is the source of inner strength enables us to persevere amid life’s ups and downs, and to endure hostility, betrayal and failings on the part of others. Such inner strength makes it possible for us, in our fast-paced, noisy and aggressive world, to give a witness of holiness through patience and constancy in doing good.

Those who put their faith in God can also be faithful to others. Life calls us to be faithful to a spouse, family, and friends.

We are asked to think about to whom and where are we called to be faithful?

Faithful stewards do not desert others in bad times; they accompany when there is anxiety and distress.

Next Week: Joy and a Sense of Humour

Thank you

To Kim, Eva & Miguel’s mum, and Jerome, Chloé & Antoine’s dad, for cleaning all of the lost property items. Please check our facebook page for photos of these items. We’d love to reunite you and your children with your belongings. Anything not claimed by next Thursday will be given to our uniform shop or St Vincent de Paul.

Principal and Teacher Strike Action 15 August

You will have received an email and paper newsletter informing you of the Board’s decision to close the school on Wednesday 15 August. It has been confirmed that this is a full day strike. We encourage you to complete the Google Form <https://tinyurl.com/August15Strike> if you are able to look after extra children or need support to look after your own children on this day. Through this form we have been able to organise care for all who have needed it so far.

Rail Safety Week (13-19 August 2018)

To mark Rail Safety Week we wanted to remind students and whanau of the importance of always looking for trains when crossing railway tracks, and particularly taking care to look for the second train.

The message this Rail Safety Week is back to basics - ‘Look right, look left for trains’. It’s also really important to always wait until the bells and lights have stopped operating before crossing.

This link to a Drax Project music video is an excellent way to show how we can all stop, look and think when getting across a level crossing, and particularly how important it is to not use headphones around railway tracks.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ge__TTLAK0k.

For younger children, as well as looking and listening before crossing, please make it clear to them that if bells and lights are going, it’s because a second train could be coming and it’s not safe to cross.

Today we went to the New Zealand Book Awards Talk with the nominated authors. The first venue we visited was Te Papa. We went upstairs to level 4 into the Marae which hosted 3 famous book authors. We were introduced to Stacy Gregg, Alison Ballance and Philippa Werry. They all talked about what they liked the most about being an author and about their most recent books. After listening to them all speak, I learned what being an author really means. I enjoyed learning about New Zealand Great White Sharks from Alison Balance. I thought the way that they can swim for months was pretty cool. I also learnt about animal tags and how you put one on a shark. I want to learn why the sharks swim to the tropics and what they do there.

One thing I would take away from today would be; never let your friends discourage you, and that some people don't know that they're authors or illustrators but that doesn't mean they won't/can't become writers or artists. One thing I enjoyed today was listening to Stacy Gregg because I loved her new book 'The Thunderbolt Pony'. One thing I learnt today is that NZ Sharks have little tags on them to tell marine biologists where they have been or where they are right now. One thing I would want to learn more about is how the authors we met started their new books because it might have been interesting to know. One book that I would want to be in our library is 'In the Dark Spaces' Why? Because it sounded good and I liked the description.

SNOWBOARDING

Eyes burning, snow gleaming
 Wind blowing, breath taken.
 Zooming down twisting around
 Trying to make no loud sound.
 I hit a bump and lose control
 Spinning around panicking now.
 Thinking it's the end save me please
 Calming myself starting to ease.
 Eyes subsiding, snow freezing
 Tired, elated, family hating.

Mountain Biking

Huffing,Puffing, I am gripping.
 Drifting,Shifting, I am rolling.
 Speeding down the hill, as fast as I can.
 Turning round corners, waiting for a fan.
 Sweating, Breath taking, I am hating.
 Regretting,Upsetting, I'm frustrating.
 Steering around like an athlete.
 Fearing injury, in a heartbeat.
 The end is near, I'm moving.
 I'm better in the end, I'm improving

The yellow slide

Watching waiting insides churning
 Excited, nervous, everyone murmuring
 People screaming making an awful sound
 Children scared and turning around
 At the top of the slide, wanting to hide
 I'm on the inflatable, get ready to glide
 3, 2, 1 prepare for the drop
 We're going so fast, are we going to stop?
 Uh oh I'm airborne, that's not right!
 And I have a wedgie what a night...
 Crying, screaming, overwhelmed with pain
 My brother comes laughing, "Wanna do it again?"
 No, I don't Xavier; are you dumb
 Well that's it, now I'm done

Our Changing Parishes Workshop

Sunday 26 August 2pm: St Teresa's Church

New Zealand was populated by migrants. This process continues with more migrants arriving from many different cultures, each bringing unique insights. Almost 50% of our clergy and about 36% of parishioners are new to Aotearoa New Zealand or are temporary migrants. This interactive workshop, presented by Chris Walkerdine, who ministered alongside migrants and refugees for 15 years, will look at some of the challenges facing new migrants and will help us understand how best to make others feel welcome.

Week 3 Garden Group

This week the garden group began to fill the garden beds with ash and soil. The ash helps to condition the soil.

The Skills learnt this week were-

- 👉 How to wheel a wheelbarrow up a ramp
- 👉 Learning about what goes into a garden bed
- 👉 How to gauge adding the right amount of soil into a wheelbarrow so that it can still be wheeled!

Week 3 Kitchen Group

The kitchen group this week made Kumera, Quinoa and Kale Fritters with Ginger Dipping Sauce.

The Skills learnt this week were-

- 👉 Working as a team
- 👉 How to 'chiffonade' - which means cut into long, thin strips
- 👉 Deveining- taking out all of the stringy bits

Kumera, Quinoa and Kale Fritters with a Ginger Dipping Sauce

Ingredients

1 large kumera	3 teaspoons of cornflour
Approximately 1 cup of uncooked quinoa, yields 2.25 cups when cooked.	1 tsp grated ginger
2 cups of kale or silverbeet	1 good pinch of smoked paprika
2 eggs	1 ts black pepper
$\frac{1}{2}$ cup of breadcrumbs (or panko crumbs)	1 tsp salt
	4-6 tablespoons of coconut oil

Method

1. Peel and dice the kumera and steam. Puree when cool.
2. Devein the kale, or silverbeet, then make it into a tight roll and chop chiffonade style (long strips).
3. In a medium size bowl, place all ingredients (except for the oil) and mix well.
4. In a medium sized pan heat up about 4-6 tablespoons of oil. With a spoon make small patties, place into the pan and slightly flatten the tops. Cook for about 3-4 minutes on each side or golden brown.
5. Cool them on a rack. Serve warm or at room temperature with the ginger sauce on the side with some hot sauce of your preference.

Ginger Dipping Sauce

- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup Greek yogurt
- 1 teaspoon freshly grated ginger
- Pinch of salt
- Pinch of pepper
- 1 teaspoon of lemon juice

- Mix all ingredients in a small bowl until combined.
